The Tell Me About You project was conducted by the Donald Beasley Institute (DBI) to ensure people with a learning disability could tell their own stories about State care.

The Royal Commission of Inquiry into Abuse in Care accepted the research findings as evidence of the abuse experienced by people with learning disability.

In this presentation, you will learn how these findings about past abuse also provide important insights for a future where people with a learning disability are free from abuse and violence, regardless of where they live.

Challenging ourselves,
together!
